Wiggins announces a blizzard for January 15. It would be safe then to expect fine weather.

Mayor Hewitt says he does not propose to write a book. The mayor seems to be a practical reformer.

Senator Ingalls was not invited to Mr. Cleveland's state dinner. Luck has always been Senator Ingalls's companion.

Th: Nast appears to have gone into innocuousness. He has simply followed his party—the democracy.

The Indianapolis Ministerial association having resolved not to do legislative work for less than $5 a prayer needs to keep a sharp eye on seals and amateurs.

One would suppose that the supreme need of the Indiana legislature being the mercy of God and the sympathy of men, the ministers would volunteer to do the missionary work without money and without price, and be glad to do it.

Secretary Bayard is credited with the intention of going to Europe to live. He would find it pleasant in any foreign country. Since he has been in office he has consulted the interest of every country in the world except his own.

In all this Secretary Bayard did but breathe the spirit of the democratic administration. Since Cleveland has been in office he has consulted the interest of Europe rather than that of his own country. He has been un-American in his policy just as his secretary of state has been in all his dealings with England.

A Madison dispatch says that Governor Hoard has received a telegram from the American minister in London to the effect that Sheriff Estes did not know Kuhn, the Dane county murderer, and that a man would have to be sent immediately to identify the prisoner. This step will have to be taken as the identity must be proven before extradition papers can be obtained. A man will be selected at once to go to England. It is a strange thing that an officer should chase a criminal to Europe who doesn't know the man when he sees him.

Congress has the power to pass uniform laws relating to money, mails, commerce, bankruptcy, naturalization, and copyright. Are these more important than the homes of the country, which are threatened with fraudulent divorces through the variety of laws relating to the subject found in the different states? If bankruptcy can be regulated by congress, why can't divorces? Some of the wisest jurists in this country say that congress can regulate divorces. Then why not do it? There is a good deal of good work for congress to do, but it seems impossible for that body to buckle down to practical, solid business.

General Ezra T. Sprague, for three years adjutant of the Eighth Wisconsin volunteers, then colonel of the Forty-second Wisconsin, then brevet brigadier-general in command of Cairo, circuit judge at Green Bay, United States commissioner and register in bankruptcy and clerk of the supreme court of Utah, died at Salt Lake City on Sunday, December 30th, ult., of pulmonary hemorrhage, aged 55 years. Judge Sprague stood high at the bar, and his kind disposition and great integrity won for him the confidence, respect and esteem of all who knew him. In 1863 he married Helen L. daughter of J. B. Crandall, of Clinton, Wisconsin, and leaves a widow, two sons and two daughters.

The influence of such papers as the New York Times and the Post in the politics of the country is suggested by the following note from the New York Sun: "The appointment of Mr. Blaine as secretary of state will secure for General Harrison's administration the unwavering hostility of the New York Times and the New York Evening Post. For that reason, if no other, it would be a masterpiece of politics. Otherwise General Harrison would be in serious danger of incurring the support of the New York Times and the New York Evening Post, with all that the support of these newspapers implies. We think he will take Blaine." There is some show of truth in the statement of the Sun. Warner Miller seems to have been unfortunately lost fall in having the support of the Times and the Post. Their friendship helped to defeat him.

Moses Jacobs, who sells papers in the streets of Des Moines, Iowa, is probably the richest newsboy in the west. He is 18 years old and has sold newspapers for the last fourteen years, during which time he has acquired $4,000 worth of real estate from his savings. One of the large real estate owners in Denver was a newsboy and a bootblack until eight years ago. He played his vocation industriously for twenty years, and owned a block of buildings while he was a newsboy. Johnny King, of Cincinnati, who died seven years ago, is another instance of wonderful success of a newsboy. He was a cripple from young boyhood, but every day in the year for twenty-eight years Johnny King was seen on the streets of Cincinnati selling newspapers. He was a great reader of books, having in his life time read more volumes than any other man in that city. He established a library for his own use, and every volume in it, paid for every volume out of the pennies he collected on the streets, and there was not a trashy book in his possession. When the number of volumes reached thirteen hundred (in 1878) he presented the whole lot to the public library of Cincinnati. The city honored him for his gift, and the Harpers placed his portrait in the Weekly, accompanied by a wordy biographical sketch. After this Johnny went on selling newspapers and buying and reading good books, but the exposure to inclement weather and his delicate constitution and lameness, brought on sickness which soon carried him to his grave.

In the cabinet talk which is going on with much vigor at Washington, the following was sent to the Chicago Tribune: "The cabinet talk heard in Washington to-day confirms the reports of last week about Senator Spooner's availability. It has been supposed for some time that Gen. Harrison desired Mr. Spooner to accept of the attorney-generalship, but that Spooner was doubtful about giving up his seat in the senate. It is said now that as far as Mr. Spooner's political future is concerned this has been made easy. Senator Sawyer's term will expire in just four years from the 4th of March, and he has announced that he will not stand for reelection. He and Mr. Spooner are close friends, and it is asserted that Mr. Sawyer can name his own successor. If Mr. Spooner should go into the cabinet, Mr. Sawyer would see that he got back into the senate at the end of his term. Just about the time this part of the cabinet was fixed up all right, there came a statement from Senator Spooner that there was not a word of truth in it. Cabinet-makers are certainly having a discouraging job on their hands.

A Madison dispatch to the Chicago Tribune, discussing the appointment of Colonel George W. Burchard as adjutant general, says:

In fact, the action is regarded as such a flat-headed slap in the face of the entire national guard and the most influential men of the party that it has proven nothing short of a sensation. The matter is being discussed, and by many it is believed that the new governor on the threshold of his administration has done that which will create much displeasure if not cost him many friends.

That kind of talk is all nonsense. There is no such feeling existing in National guard in Janesville. There may be some regret among the members of the guard that General Chapman was not reappointed, but they do not regard the appointment of Burchard as a "slap in the face," neither are they criticizing Governor Hoard for exercising his right to appoint as his military secretary a warm personal friend who is competent to fill any office, either military or civil, that the governor or the people can bestow upon him. But more than that, the National guard in this part of the state consider Colonel Burchard perfectly competent to fill the office of adjutant general. For that office he is just as well qualified as any man in the state. He not only served four years in the civil war, but he likewise served four years on Governor Smith's staff, and during that time he became thoroughly acquainted with the affairs of the military department of the state government. But aside from all this, General Burchard is a man of the ability and of splendid accomplishments, and the National guard will soon learn, if they are not acquainted with the fact already, that in General Burchard they not only have a warm friend, but a commander who challenges the profound respect of every soldier and National guard-man in the state.

The Inter Ocean comments very favorably upon Governor Hoard's message, and among other things says that he makes a plain and interesting statement of the condition of that state, beginning with its finances, which are in a healthy condition. In this connection he discusses the direct war tax levied in 1891, and which congress will undoubtedly refund. The amount due Wisconsin is $446,535.41, which was paid by the state by credit on three classes of allowances, namely, on war claims, for swamp land indemnity, and for 5 per cent of sales of public lands. The first, he suggests, should be credited, when received, to the general fund, the third to the school fund, and the second be divided between the Normal schools and the drainage funds. In other words, the original credit seems to determine the disposition of the fund when paid back.

"The charitable and penal institutions of that state make a good showing. It is gratifying to note that the number of criminals in the penitentiary is decreasing rather than increasing. The governor gives special attention to agriculture, and more especial to the dairymen's association. As he was the farmers' candidate, and is particularly interested in dairying, this was to be expected. He states that in Wisconsin alone there are a hundred millions of dollars invested in the dairy business. He recommends more stringent legislation against the manufacture and sale of fraudulent imitations of butter and cheese, and the sale of adulterated milk. As a great deal of Wisconsin dairy produce is consumed in Chicago, the people of this city are interested in encouraging any and every movement tending to prevent fraud in the dairy line, but congressional rather than state legislation must be our main reliance for that sort of protection. There is a great deal of butter and oleomargarine sold in Chicago, but it is sold as such and not as butter. Tons of 'imitation butter' may be seen any day on State street, between Washington street and the river, but it is not 'fraudulent.' On the contrary it is plainly stamped and does not bring one-third the price of Wisconsin dairy butter. The farmers have been greatly benefited by the congressional law on this subject—far more, in fact, than by state legislation."

GAS RESERVOIRS BURST.TERRIFIC EXPLOSION OF TWO BROOKLYN TANKS.

Victims of the Cyclone's Work at Pittsburgh and Reading—A Niagara Bridge Blown Away.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—The immense gas reservoirs, one of 600,000 cubic feet and another of 275,000 cubic feet capacity, property of the Citizens' Gas Light company, and situated at Smith Hoyt, and Fifth streets, Brooklyn, exploded almost simultaneously at 7:45 o'clock Wednesday night, with a rumble and roar like that of an earthquake.

In the affected sections, made up of rickety tenements and small frame houses, first terror reigned. The residents were first alarmed by a vicious gale which whirled things about, next by a roar which set the earth trembling, and then by a blinding flame that shot high into the air and appeared to envelop them.

Ceilings fell in fragments, furniture and crockery were jumbled together, and the occupants of the houses rushed to their doors and windows another explosion and a flash drove them back. Those whose houses fronted on the gas-works scrambled through rear windows, and in a moment there was a wild rush over fences. For a quarter of a mile in all directions shattered windows were seen, while within the section supplied with the night watchman's house, on the life and that the injuries sustained were very slight. This fact was probably due to the great presence of mind of Michael Daley, the night watchman, 65 years of age, who immediately after the explosion ran into the valve house, outside of which he was standing, and turned off the gas. He was in the midst of danger, but simply had his hat blown off.

The loss is estimated at about $500,000. The second tank that exploded was built in 1875, and the people in the neighborhood were in constant apprehension because of the fact that the company had had serious trouble with it on several occasions. When the excitement had in a measure subsided messengers were sent in all directions to notify people that a circuit of gas had been established from the works of the Fulton Municipal Gas Light company, and that the supply would be continued until the damage was repaired.

Various theories were offered to account for the explosion, but all are mere speculation. People who were on the streets at the time the accident occurred are unanimous in the opinion that there was no atmospheric disturbance until several minutes after the explosion was heard. The first intimation of the accident at a distance was a bright glare in the heavens, which lit up the whole city a few seconds later.

A full report followed, and while people were wondering what had occurred a violent storm of wind and rain set in.

Expert meteorologists seem to think that the cyclone, which had been coming from Pittsburgh was hanging over the city and that the explosion precipitated the atmospheric disturbances which followed.

There is no doubt about the storm following immediately in the wake of the explosion.

SEARCHING FOR THE DEAD.

The Victims of the Pittsburgh Disaster.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 11.—The search for victims in the ruin wrought by Wednesday's awful storm was prosecuted all night and will be vigorously continued until the debris is all cleared away. This will probably take several days, and the exact number of victims will not be known until the work is completed. No bodies were discovered from midnight until 6 o'clock this morning, when the mangled remains of two men were found close together under a portion of one of the walls of the Weldin building. They were so horribly mutilated as to be unrecognizable, but were finally identified as the bodies of John I. Rogerson and Thomas Jones. They were employed as brick-layers on the ill-fated Weldin building, and lived at Castle Shannon, Pa. Rogerson leaves a wife and three children. Joseph Gehring, the brave 16-year-old lad who was rescued last night after being kept alive for several hours by means of a gum hose, through which whisky and beef tea were fed him, died at Mercy hospital this morning. The death list now foots up to eleven, the wounded thirty-five, and the missing eight. A number of the wounded are in a critical condition, and their deaths are momentarily expected. There are all kinds of rumors in regard to the number still in the ruins. One of the men working in the building yesterday said he was certain they would find at least twelve more, but this is believed to be too high an estimate. None of the men reported missing has been heard from, and it is believed that at least eight persons are still in the debris. There is no hope that any now in the ruins are alive, so that it is safe to say that the death list will exceed a score.

LATER.—The death list of the victims of the cyclone here now numbers fifteen, and the number of the wounded is thirty-five. Of the latter seven are in a critical condition and several are reported to be dying. No one knows or will know before the ruins shall be thoroughly explored, just how many lives have been lost. The great number of inquiries made at the morgue for missing friends inspires the fear that a far larger number were supposed to be caught in the falling debris, and Coroner McDowell believes that twenty-five or thirty bodies are yet under the bricks.

Late this afternoon a rumor was current that five women were in the ruins in the cellar of Weldin's store. It could not be tracked to a reliable source, and it is probable that if such were the case it would have been known before now. Mr. Mason, of Weldin & Co., says that one of his clerks is missing, and that a woman with whom he was trading at the time of the disaster has not been heard from; and, as they were in the cellar, it is probable that they both have been killed. This afternoon Coroner McDowell impelled a jury from among the business men and old residents of the city, and it is proposed to make a searching investigation of the causes leading to the disaster. The jury viewed the bodies at the morgue and then inspected the ruins, after which an adjournment was taken.

THE LOSS FIFTY.

Half a Hundred Perish by the Reading Cyclone.

READING, Pa., Jan. 11.—It is now believed that a number of those who have already been reported as missing are the result of the havoc done by yesterday's cyclone will be about fifty.

The work of recovering the dead and wounded was continued all night and all day. The incoming trains this morning brought crowds of strangers and at noon it was estimated that 10,000 people surrounded the scene of the silk mill disaster. These greatly interfered with the work of removing the debris and taking out the dead, and finally the Reading authorities, the city's only military organization, were called out and ordered to the ruins to keep back the crowds. Eight more bodies were taken from the ruins. Considerable money has been contributed for the relief of the sufferers. Benefits are also being arranged.

The morgue was besieged with callers all day. Many heartrending scenes were witnessed there. The big tower and the smoke-stack at the silk mill and ten feet of

THE SUSPENSION BRIDGE IS BLOWN DOWN BY THE GALE.

Lockport, N. Y., Jan. 11.—The suspension bridge situated at Niagara Falls was carried away by the gale about 3 o'clock Thursday morning and deposited in the river. The towers and cables remain in tact. The bridge was completely rebuilt last season, and enlarged for double track. The materials are entirely iron and steel. It is owned by the Niagara Falls and Clinton Suspension Bridge companies, the stock being held in Oswego and Canada. It always paid large dividends. The loss is with the company's iron and steel. The bridge will probably be rebuilt as soon as possible. All points of interest along the river at the water's edge suffered more or less. The water was never known to be so high. The international hotel was unroofed. Several buildings were blown down in the vicinity. The gale was the severest known here and lasted from 4 p. m. Wednesday until daylight Thursday morning.

CASUALTIES ELSEWHERE.

Ten thousand dollars damage to buildings was done at Wheeling, W. Va. The Eastern market house at York, Pa., was demolished; loss, $12,000.

The storm was very severe in northern Ohio. A small foundry was wrecked at Ravenna. Trees were uprooted and wires prostrated in Cleveland.

Albert Williams, a puddler of Lancaster, one of the injured at the Sunbury mill during the storm, died this morning. The search for bodies is still going on.

The government training school for Indians at Carlisle, Pa., and a number of other buildings were unroofed by the cyclone. The loss will exceed $100,000.

The wind played havoc with telegraph and telephone wires at Detroit, Mich., and Windsor, Ont. A brick cottage at Detroit was demolished. Joseph P. Feil, aged 15, fatally hurt by a falling limb of a tree.

There was a heavy rainfall in New York State and a heavy fall of snow in New England. The steamer George Arnold was wrecked at Sag Harbor, Long Island. Her crew was saved.

KILLED HIS STEP-DAUGHTER.

Horrible Crime Committed by an Ex-Apprenticed Cuban.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—A special from Havana gives the details of a barbarous crime committed at Ciego de Avila. A step-father came home to breakfast. Miss Amanda, his wife's daughter, aged 14, was serving at the table. All at once she got angry, drew an enormous dirk, sprang like a tiger on the poor girl, who ran to her mother for protection, and stabbed the child thirteen times. Going out in the yard he met his victim's brother and said: "I have just killed Amanda and now will murder you." The brother was unarmed and made his escape. The murderer was soon captured and while being taken to San Nicolas jail assaulted one of his guards, and while trying to escape was fired upon and killed.

AMONG THE LEGISLATORS
SENATOR CULLOM RENOMINATED AT SPRINGFIELD.
Gov. Hoard's First Message—Trouble Among Indiana Senators—Minnesota's Inauguration.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 11.—The joint caucus of the Republican members of the Senate and House to nominate a United States Senator from Illinois, held in the Senate chamber Thursday night and went to business promptly. It put off nominating speeches and got through with its program in very short order. The roll call showed only Senators MacMillan and Fuller and Representatives "Custard, Hayes, May, and Cook, and White of Whiteside absent. Senator Bacon of Edgar presented Cullom's name, and his nomination was seconded by Senator Bassett and by Mr. Crafts. The nomination was made by a rising vote and by acclamation, and the chairman was directed to wire the action to the Senator. The caucus adjourned, having been in session sixteen minutes. This is the first time a Senator has ever been nominated with such unanimity or without his presence at the time the vote was taken. The Democratic caucus will not be held till next week.

The House.
The General Assembly is in working order so far as it is possible until the committee are appointed, and this can not be done before the latter part of next week. Representative Matthews was elected speaker, after the members of the House had been sworn in by Chief Justice Craig, receiving 79 votes to 71 cast for Mr. Crafts. Upon being introduced by Mr. Cooley the Speaker addressed the House as follows: "Gentlemen of the House of Representatives: I appreciate the privilege you have shown in selecting me for your presiding officer. On my part I promise exactness, so far as I am able to understand it, and in consideration thereof, I hope it will be your pleasure to extend to me a like fairness to me. If this shall be the rule of mutual conduct I hope, when the history of this body shall be written, it will justify your choice and my aspirations. Your generosity will be further taxed by the constant requirement of good counsel, kind consideration, and parliamentary forbearance. With these and like courtesies I am hopeful for the future; without them I dread the result. Upon the Republican majority in the House in a large measure rests the responsibility of our legislation. With your assistance I hope to carry out the best interests of the people who have at heart the best interests of this great commonwealth. Having a slight tenure to speak for that party I will try to do my duty as a Republican in the most honest and able manner. In his manner and by the same right I assert the best interests of the people and economy without reference to party affiliation. [Applause.] Asking a fair measure of courtesy from each member of this body during the session now commencing, I repeat my thanks and return the thanks at hand." The speech was duly applauded. After the other Republican caucus nominees for House positions had been chosen, the assembly adjourned until 2 p. m. to meet with the Senate in joint convention for the canvassing of the votes.

The Senate.
The Senate took up the Crawford resolution for adjournment on the 17th of April. Crawford and Fryer voted with the Democrats for immediate action, but the majority postponed consideration until the first Wednesday in April. This of course is the actual defeat of the resolution. Senator Stephenson opened the ball on railroad legislation by introducing a resolution on passenger fares. It authorizes the appointment of a commission to ascertain the rates of fare on the railroad and warehouse commissions what extent they can offer for not making the passenger rate 2 cents a mile in Illinois. The commission will have a stenographer and take notes.

A bill amending the act concerning the appellate courts, introduced by Senator Thomas, provides that the chief justice of the State, when the business of one of the appellate courts requires direct the judge of any other appellate court to hold an appellate court in the district where such necessity exists, as a separate division of the court. It is the business of one of the appellate courts requires direct the judge of any other appellate court to hold an appellate court in the district where such necessity exists, as a separate division of the court. It is the business of one of the appellate courts requires direct the judge of any other appellate court to hold an appellate court in the district where such necessity exists, as a separate division of the court.

Another bill by Senator Thomas permits religious corporations to acquire titles to lands for burial purposes, and still another declares that in colleges, universities, and other institutions of learning, under the control of officers of the State, non-residents may be eligible to election as trustees. The latter effects the college at Janesville, and is practically the same bill introduced last session of 1907 by Mr. Herrington at the request of Judge Cady and the management of the institution.

SENATORS IN DISORDER.
They Will Not Let Lieut. Gov. Robertson, of Indiana, Preside.
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 11.—The Indiana legislature met Wednesday. The proceedings in the House were quiet, but the Hon. Mass. Niblack being elected speaker and the Democratic nominees for the other offices.

In the Senate there was an exciting and disorderly scene as was the case two years ago the Democrats refused to allow Lieut. Gov. Robertson to preside or even get into the chamber. Judge Mitchell of Supreme court called the Senate to order and asked State Auditor Carr to preside temporarily. He declined on the ground that the Lieut. Governor was there for that purpose. A resolution was passed through declaring Senator Cox (Dem.) president, and he took the chair. The Republicans sent up written protests against every step taken and there was great excitement and confusion, which ended in an adjournment. Robertson tried to get into the Senate chamber repeatedly but was kept out. A deadlock is imminent.

LANSING, Mich., Jan. 11.—Among the bills introduced in the Senate was an approving $15,000 to be raised for the Governor in Lansing; one making it unlawful to establish, operate or promote the formation of trusts; several to regulate telegraph and telephone companies, and one to give municipal corporations the power to establish the tolls for telephone service within their limits. In the House bills were introduced to regulate charges for berths in sleeping cars and seats in parlor cars; also making it unlawful to suspend the upper berth over the lower one in sleeping cars, except in cases where the lower berths are required for use by actual occupants. It is said that the larger railroad companies of the State will not combat a bill reducing fares to 2 cents a mile.

GOV. COLEBURN'S MESSAGE.
He Discusses the Illinois Tax System—Sundry Recommendations.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 11.—Gov. Oglesby, in his biennial message, invites the attention of the General Assembly to the question of State revenues. He declares that the State should not borrow and that the present laws regulating taxation are not in any way inadequate but are not put into execution with consistency or uniformity. He says: "A brief examination of the reports of the auditor of public accounts will show for a series of years the most unjust, unequal and partial assessments by local assessors. They assess lands and lots with some pretense of fairness, but it is a well known fact that personal property does not pay its fair proportion of taxation. No effort is made by assessors to discover property beyond these visible resources of taxation. The Governor submits a comparative statement of assessments of property, showing that the total assessment of the State decreased from $798,312,991 in 1885 to $788,013,456 in 1898, while the rate of tax increased from 42 to 44 cents during the same period. The Governor declares his belief that unless some other system of taxation is adopted the whole revenue system of the State will be wrecked, and urges the adoption of the revenue code submitted to the XXXIVth general assembly by the commission appointed for that purpose. The Governor reports that the State penitentiaries in good order. Regarding the Joliet prison he says the receipts from the earnings of prisoners has fallen off $50,000 in two years, owing mainly to the decrease in the number of prisoners. The Governor directs attention to the reports of the board of live-stock commissioners, congratulating the State upon the complete extirpation of pleuro-pneumonia within its borders, and urges the importance of continuing the work of protecting the live stock of the State from outside contagion. The total expenditures for public schools were $10,961,017. Of these amounts there was paid for salaries for teachers $6,714,516, and the permanent productive school funds for the State, not including university, was $10,383,132. The condition of the State treasury. The receipts from all sources from Oct. 1, 1898, to Sept. 30, 1899, including $3,451,711 on hand at the first mentioned date, were $14,124,545, and the disbursements, leaving a balance on hand of $3,889,217. The estimates of appropriations for 1899-90 aggregate $6,529,880.

A TANGLE OF LAWS.
The Political Fight in West Virginia—Senator Hendricks' Message.
CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 11.—Judge A. N. Campbell of the Circuit court granted yesterday an injunction restraining the Secretary of State from laying before the House of Representatives the returns of the election for Governor in Kanawha county on the ground that a certiorari was pending to suppress the returns. On the same afternoon Judge Guthrie of the Circuit court of Kanawha county granted an alternative writ of mandamus permitting Walker to do what Judge Campbell had enjoined him from doing. To-day the Supreme court of Appeals awarded a rule against Judge Guthrie for refusing to issue a writ of prohibition should not be issued against him to prevent his interference with the injunction. The rule was made returnable to-morrow at 2:30 p. m. The House and Senate met to-day, but did not do any business, as a deadlock in the Senate could not be broken. It is rumored that the deadlock will continue for some time. The House is now ready for work, but cannot do anything until the Senate organizes. The Republicans say the deadlock will not be broken until proceedings in court have been abandoned by the Democrats.

HIS FIRST MESSAGE.
Gov. Hoard Sends His Report to the Wisconsin Legislature.
MADISON, Wis., Jan. 11.—The Governor's message, an exhaustive report, has been sent to the Legislature. The State debt is shown to be $2,251,910, and the balance in the State Treasury Sept. 30, $750,792.44. The Governor expressed the hope that the Federal Government will soon pay Wisconsin her share of the national debt, amounting to $456,535.31; recommends liberal appropriations for the industrial school and for the insane asylum; commends the State bureau of agriculture; encourages the farmers' associations; denounces adulterated butter and cheese, and recommends that their manufacture or sale be forbidden by statute. The general adulteration of food is discussed, and preventive and punitive measures in such cases recommended. On the public school question the Governor advised a law to compel the city or county superintendents of schools to see that the English language in reading and writing be taught in all the schools daily.

Connecticut State Officers Elected.
HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 11.—Both Houses of the Legislature met in joint session to elect State officers, and election by the people having failed. Following is the result of the balloting: For Governor—M. G. Bulkeley, (Rep.) 154; Lusk B. Morris (Dem.), 95. For Lieutenant Governor—Samuel E. Merwin (Rep.), 106; James S. Kirkham (Dem.), 92. For Secretary of State—John Walsh (Rep.), 166; Henry A. Bishop (Dem.), 94. For Treasurer—E. S. Henry (Rep.), 164; J. G. Martin (Dem.), 92. For Comptroller—John B. Wright (Rep.), 158; Nicholas Staub (Dem.), 93. Messrs. Bulkeley, Merwin, Walsh, Henry, and Wright were declared elected. Later in the day Gov. Bulkeley was inaugurated with imposing ceremonies.

The Indiana Congressional Vacancy.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Gov.-elect Hoovey of Indiana left Washington Thursday night for Indianapolis. He expects to have his resignation in as a representative in Congress to Gov. Gray on Saturday, so that a special election may be called to fill the vacancy. It is the understanding among the members of the Indiana House of Representatives that the candidates who were opposed to each other in Gov. Hoovey's district during the last election will again be put forward by their parties.

Madrid—Perry Belmont, United States Minister to Spain, has arrived.

Dark Horses at St. Paul.
ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 11.—There is talk of John S. and C. A. Pillsbury and Thomas Lowry as dark horses in the Senatorial race. It is believed that Lowry and the Pillsburys are Washington men and will not antagonize Washburn. There are, however, some thirty men in the Legislature who do not want Washburn, Sablin, or Donnelly, and one of them says that they are organizing to defeat them.

THE SHADOW

A Dog, crossing a bridge over a stream with a piece of flesh in its mouth, saw his own shadow in the water, and took it for that of another Dog, with a piece of meat doubtless even as fine. He therefore let go his own, and fiercely attacked the other Dog, to get his larger piece from him. Thus lost both. — Aesop's Fables.

RUNNELNESS

can be given in a cup of coffee or tea with the knowledge of the person taking it; it is not a hair dressing, it effects a speedy permanent cure, whether the person is male or female.

"I have taken from an alcoholic wreck. Then I have drunk and I have been drunk. I have taken their knowledge and to-day I have been quit of it. I have been quit of it. I have never fails. The system once impregnated with the Specific, it becomes an utter ruin. I have taken it for the cure of the same."

WHERE HAS HE GONE?

W. H. Norton, the West Milwaukee Street Grocer, Still Unfound.

Nothing Heard of Him Since His Disappearance Last Week.

Janesville is getting to be quite a place for those mysterious performances known as "how you see me, and now you don't." Patrick Malone, who dropped out of sight early in December, is still unaccounted for, although the fifty dollars reward still holds good. The interest in his case seems likely to be transferred, however, to that of Mr. W. H. Norton. Since Mr. Norton turned over his West Milwaukee street store to Gray, Kingman & Collins, he has seemed moody and depressed. On Saturday he announced that he was going to Chicago to see if something could not be done to put matters on a better footing. He left for Chicago at noon and since then has not been seen.

His family, consisting of seven children, the oldest seventeen years of age, are most exercised over their father's disappearance. Mr. Norton's relatives have held that he has been unavoidably detained in the city, but further than this nothing is known.

BRIEFLETS.

—The new railroad seems to be not so far off after all.

—"Black Diamonds" this evening at Lippin's hall.

—Drill of the Light Infantry was resumed last evening.

—The ice dealers are happy—six degrees below zero.

—Venison—fresh at Louthan & Van Valen's Court street market.

—The services of the week of prayer are being well attended.

—A fencing class is once more discussed by Janesville young men.

—Truman Mosher, mail carrier for the third ward, is still dangerously ill.

—A private party will be given at the Armory this evening, for the members of "The Club."

—Charles Blay, of this city, has been appointed one of the door-keepers of the assembly.

—Staff Captain Evans, of the Salvation Army, has been visiting Janesville friends and was registered at the Grand.

—W. H. Sargent Post No. 20, G. A. R., assemble in regular semi-monthly meeting this evening at Post hall.

—A number of Janesville people enjoyed a sleighride to La Prairie last evening. The Grange party was well attended.

—On next Sunday evening the fourth sermon in the temperance series will be delivered by the Rev. Dr. Hodge, at the Baptist church.

—"The advance sale of seats for the 'Streets of New York' will open at the box office of the Myers opera house at nine o'clock to-morrow morning.

—"People's Lodge No. 460, Independent Order of Good Templars, assemble in regular weekly meeting this evening—lodge room in the Court Street M. E. church block.

—"The Pearson's Comedy Co. continue to draw crowded house at Lippin's hall. Black Diamonds this evening. Family matinee on to-morrow afternoon. Popular prices—10, 20 and 30 cents.

—"Secretary E. B. Heimstret, of the city hospital association, desires to public acknowledge the receipt of the sum of fifty dollars, donated to the hospital by the Janesville Concordia Society.

—"Supt. Chas. F. Niles, of Monroe, will occupy the pulpit of All Souls church next Sunday at the usual hour. Prof. Niles is a young man of culture and ability and a very interesting and pleasing speaker.

—"Among all the Chicago dealers, none is esteemed more reliable or fair-minded than the Evening Journal. The Journal has many Janesville friends, and all will be glad to know that its success grows greater each year.

—"G. Cogswell & Co., are going out of business. They are selling Stacy, Adams & Co's fine shoes at cost. Patent leather dancing shoes at $4. You should supply your wants at once and save from $1.00 to $1.50 per pair. Go and see them.

—"Mr. Bert Palmer, with Palmer & Stevens, returned from Milwaukee this morning, where he has been in attendance upon the meeting of the State Board of Pharmacy. He passed a successful examination before the board, and was admitted as assistant pharmacist.

—"Olive Branch Lodge No. 36, Ancient Order of United Workmen, will give the third of a series of entertainments and socials at their hall in Smith's block this evening, commencing at 8 o'clock, sharp. An interesting programme has been prepared which will be followed by a social and dance. Good music will be in attendance. The public is invited. Admission free.

—"This evening there will be a public installation of the recently elected officers of W. H. Sargent Post No. 20, Grand Army of the Republic, at Post headquarters, commencing at half past seven o'clock. The families of the members are invited to be present, as well as the members of W. H. Sargent Woman's Relief Corps No. 21, and their families. The capacity of the hall is not sufficient to admit of an invitation to the general public. At the close of the installation services a basket supper will be served at the hall.

—"The Northwestern road is now building at Milwaukee a train shed 440 feet in length and a new depot which will cost in the neighborhood of $120,000. Both will be completed by July 1st. It might be mentioned in connection with this that a train shed and depot even though they cost considerably less than those in Milwaukee would be fully appreciated by Janesville.

—"The Children's Musical Society have in preparation a beautiful little opera to be given early in the spring, at one of the opera houses. All who are desirous of joining the society are requested to do so as soon as possible in order to receive the thorough preparatory work taken up at the Saturday morning lesson. Boys and girls from five to fifteen years of age are received and arranged in classes according to grade of advancement. Miss

Benedict's success as a teacher is thoroughly appreciated by Janesville people and her classes are likely to be well filled.

—Secretary E. B. Heimstret, of the State Board of Pharmacy, returned home from Milwaukee this morning, having been in attendance at a regular meeting of the board. Considerable business was considered, among which was the adoption of a resolution recognizing the certificates of other state boards in so far as the certificate relates to the standing of the holder. This is a new departure, and will open the way for a uniform policy of examinations between the twenty-six states that now have pharmacy laws.

MRS. CHAS. WINTERMUTE.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD AT SUSSEX THIS MORNING—THE REMAINS WILL ARRIVE HERE THIS EVENING.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Charles Wintermute was held at Sussex this morning at eleven o'clock, the services being conducted by the pastor of the Episcopal church in that village. The funeral party will arrive in Janesville at 5:45 this evening, via Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway, and the remains will be taken direct from the cars to the home of Dr. Wintermute's mother, Mrs. C. T. Wright, South Jackson street. At 9:30 o'clock to-morrow morning services will be held at the home of Mrs. Wright, after which the remains will be taken to Oak Hill cemetery for interment. The pall bearers will be Dr. W. E. Palmer, Dr. Chas. L. Clark, Messrs. Chas. Carlie, F. N. Webster, B. W. McLean and Chas. F. Field.

THE HOME MAKER.

That generous encouragement has greeted the first numbers of the "Home Maker" all who have been privileged to glance through its pages will be glad to know. To dignify the office of wife and mother; to aid in the work of educating those who are to make and people the homes of the next generation; to elevate the tone of daily thought and daily talk, and while deepening and widening heart and mind, to shed light into the life of each member of the household—is the Home Maker's aim—an aim that well deserves success.

The January number is a very interesting one and it is only a sample of what is to be given each month in the year.

WHO HAS THE JOB.

FIRST WARD PEOPLE ANXIOUS ABOUT SIDEWALKS.

West side and east side as well as wondering now that snow has come, whose duty it is to see that the sidewalks are kept shoveled. An indignation meeting was held by some of the first ward citizens, and a descent was made on an unsuspecting alderman. The mission of the party was briefly but forcibly explained.

"Oh, don't talk to me about that sort of thing," said the alderman wearily. "You are the third delegation of the kind to-day. Go and see the street commissioner. The aldermen are kept busy attending their princely salaries, and can't be expected to give their time to such unimportant details."

It was explained that neither the duties of the street commissioner nor of the city marshal included supervision of snowy sidewalks and that special action of the council would be needed to insure the cleaning of Janesville highways during the snowy season. At present, however, the work has been turned over to Marshal Hogan. The matter is likely to come up before the aldermen at their next meeting if having already drawn considerable attention.

POPULAR EDUCATION.

We sympathize with the feeling which often leads citizens to boast that no child born in this country need grow up in ignorance, and yet it is a fact that many people who have heard and read and write have never taught themselves to think. A man who suffered from catarrh, or liver complaint, or rheumatism, or any other ailment, might read, till his eyes dropped, and his head ached, and his hands trembled, and yet never know that his ailments have been cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, but if he did not take the lesson to himself and test the virtues of this great medicine, his time would be thrown away.

ROBBED OF HIS CASH.

A Dealer in Seeds Held Up by Two Men in Detroit.

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 11.—Luther Tallman, a dealer in seeds and fertilizers at Fairport, N. Y., came to Detroit Tuesday for the purpose of buying seed. Last night while returning to his hotel from the theater he was held up by two men and robbed of $1,500 in cash and $1,000 in drafts. Mr. Tallman gives no description of the robbers except that they were large men. The robbery is one of the boldest ever committed in Detroit. It occurred in a thickly settled locality, on a prominent street, and was a daring and dangerous job. But the night was favorable; it was storming hard and the streets were almost deserted. The detectives are of the opinion that the robbers had a party of accomplices who followed Tallman from Fairport.

A Michigan Deputy Treasurer Missing.

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 11.—Charles H. Dixon, deputy county treasurer, left the city four days ago, taking with him a considerable amount of the county funds. The finance committee of the board of Supervisors, on making the annual examination of the books, found several errors, but refused to make known the amount. Treasurer Ross intimates that Dixon is a very clever fellow, and is likely to prosecute, but does not expect to get a chance. Dixon left a handsome young wife here and is thought to have fled with another woman.

His Conscience Pricked Him.

MARSHALLTOWN, Iowa, Jan. 11.—George I. Nelson, a farmer of this county, walked into the sheriff's office last night and gave himself up, confessing the forgery of his brother's name to three notes, of $200 each and one of $170, which he had sold to the general public. At the close of the installation services a basket supper will be served at the hall.

A Murderer Gets Eleven Years.

KOKOMO, Ind., Jan. 11.—This morning Tom Rose was sentenced to eleven years in the penitentiary for the murder of Charley Marks last spring for intimacy with his wife. The jury were out about forty-eight hours.

Lively Blaze at Madison, Ind.

MADISON, Ind., Jan. 11.—A fire last night destroyed the business houses of M. Krell, William Wolfe, James Connelley and adjoining buildings. The loss is $40,000; uninsured.

Perhaps no local disease has puzzled and baffled the medical profession more than nasal catarrh. When not immediately treated it is among the most distressing and dangerous of affections, and the flesh is heir to, and the records show very few or no cases of radical cure of chronic catarrh by any of the multitude of modes of treatment until the introduction of Ely's Cream Balm a few years ago. The success of this preparation has been most gratifying and surprising.

THE NEW BRANCH PROMISED.

Janesville and Lake Geneva Soon to be Connected by Rail.

Surveyors of the Northwestern Spend the Day Looking Over the Line.

Mr. J. B. Berry, one of the engineers of the Chicago & Northwestern railway, was in the city to-day to meet a committee from Johnston in the interests of the prospective railroad through to Geneva Lake. Mr. Wm. Zuill, R. T. Pender, V. S. Winlow, Capt. P. Th. Norcross, I. C. Brownell, A. M. Valentine, J. P. Baker and several other gentlemen from the city spent the forenoon in looking over a feasible right of way out of the city. Mr. Pender stated that, in a recent interview with the officers of the road he was given to understand that if the right of way could be secured from Janesville to Delavan that the road would be built through to William's Bay, Geneva Lake. Mr. Pender also stated that in his opinion the county could well afford to give from $15,000 to $20,000, as in case the road is not built, a new location for the poor farm must be secured, and new buildings erected, which would cost at least $50,000.

The matter will be brought before the board of supervisors at their meeting next week, and some action will undoubtedly be taken. Johnston will contribute liberally, and Janesville will not be behind. The proposed route will cross the Mount Zion road one mile east of the city, making an air line over a level country due east fourteen miles.

Mr. Zuill, Mr. Pender, Mr. Winlow and Mr. Berry, started out over the line this afternoon, and will set a committee from Delavan to-morrow. The railroad people mean business, and Mr. Berry spoke very encouragingly of the enterprise. The company realized the fact that the country through which the new line will be surveyed, represents the garden of the state. They also appreciate the danger of delay, as the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul people are already turning their attention in the same direction. The Johnston people are very enthusiastic over the movement and will do all in their power to secure the road.

It remains for Janesville to aid or retard the enterprise. The Gazette believes that the city is in favor of an enterprise that will contribute to her welfare. An additional line of railroad would certainly be beneficial and this particular line would be valuable. It would be the terminus of at least one division, and would undoubtedly influence the location of the Madison division at an early day. The route would be direct to Geneva Lake and would be of great convenience to pleasure seekers. An additional through line from Chicago to St. Paul would also be afforded and Janesville, being the junction of that line and the Green Bay line would receive benefits by no means inconsiderable.

The Johnston people will hold another meeting on the 22nd inst and in the mean time the Northwestern company will present a definite proposition. When the time comes Janesville should not promptly. One of the arguments used by the committee from Johnston was, that Milton, Whitewater, Darien and stations on the C. M. & St. P. lines are taking much of the barley and grain that naturally belonged to Janesville. Claiming that better prices were being paid at adjoining towns.

Cataract Cure.

A clergyman, after years of suffering from that loathsome disease Catarrh, and vainly trying every known remedy at last found a recipe which completely cured and saved him from death. Any sufferer from this dreadful disease sending a self addressed stamped envelope to Prof. J. A. Lawrence, 88 Warren St., New York city will receive the recipe free of charge.

A PECULIAR ACCIDENT.

DANIEL WHITE, A NORTHWESTERN ENGINEER PROBABLY FATALY INJURED.

Daniel White is an engineer on the Northwestern road on the freight which passes through this city late in the evening. On Monday evening while on his locomotive, near Belvidere, White turned to put his cap into the box, near the steps of the engine. The cap slipped and fell upon his fingers, and as he involuntarily jumped back he lost his hold, and with a scream fell off into the darkness. The heavy train was going more than thirty miles an hour, and it was some time before the fireman was able to stop the train and return. White was found unconscious, but alive, lying in the ditch. He was picked up and taken to Belvidere. Examination revealed but few bruises, but he is thought to be badly injured internally. —Rockford Gazette.

How Doctors Conquer Death.

Dr. Walter K. Hammond says: "After a long experience I have come to the conclusion that two-thirds of all deaths from consumption, or consumption, might be avoided if Dr. K. Hammond's English Remedy for consumption were only used in time." This wonderful remedy is sold under a positive guarantee by Prentice & Evenson, druggists.

Good-bye.

C. O. D. means cash; and the man who sells goods on that basis is always supposed to give bargains. The firm of Dutton & Son, at their new store, 169 West Milwaukee street, have a fresh new stock of goods, that they are selling cheap, for cash. You can buy more for a round silver dollar than you can on a dollar's worth of reputation. Call and get prices.

A Sad Story.

The child coughed. The mother ran. No remedy was near. Before morning the poor little sufferer was dead. Moral: Always keep Dr. Acker's English Remedy at hand. Prentice & Evenson, druggists.

THE WEATHER.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 6 degrees below zero. Clear with west wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 17 degrees above zero. Clear with west wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 16 degrees below zero and at zero.

THAT "STRANGE COIN."

DR. J. B. WHITING GIVES AN EXPLANATION AND THE ORIGIN. To the Editor.

In a recent issue of the Gazette you mentioned the finding of a strange coin on Long Island, bearing date 1838, and on one side a female figure in chains kneeling, and the words "Am I not a Woman and a Sister?" I am sure thousands of persons must be living who remember those coins. I remember them well. They were made to represent slavery and the appeal to her white sister for relief. I think they originated with the Burleigh family, who were Connecticut boys, and had a wide reputation as orators (and scholars). C. C. Burleigh the eldest of the family of brothers, was the peer of Wendell Phillips as an abolition orator and writer. He resided in Hartford for a time and started a paper there devoted to the cause of anti-slavery and to the betterment of the human family generally. They were a family of philanthropists. The family consisted of Charles C., George S., Lucien and a sister whose name I cannot now recall. It was a family of poets. George and Lucien wrote fragmentary pieces all too good to be lost, and Charles published a volume of poems, but as they sang chiefly of the theme uppermost in their minds, when the old abolitionists went out they seemed to go with them.

J. B. WHITING.

WOMEN AND HER SOCIETIES.

The Browning club of Philadelphia is said to have the largest membership of any in America or Europe. It numbers 500. Men are admitted to membership, but the officers and a majority of the members are women.

Jane Cobden, daughter of the famous Richard Cobden, says that there are more than 16,000 members in the women's liberal associations of England. The influence of this women's organization is incalculable, and English politicians have always to count upon it in making their calculations.

Five years ago a number of prominent New York women organized the Working Girls' Vacation society. Every summer the society sends poor, sick girls to the country for a month of pure air, paying all expenses of the trip. Last summer 41 girls were supported at country boarding houses and nearly ten thousand were sent out to Glen Island on vacations of a day each.

The chief object of the New York workingwomen's Protective Union is to see that workingwomen are paid for their work. Most of the women connected with the union give their services gratuitously, and through their efforts many friendless working girls have been enabled to secure the salaries out of which dishonest employers and "confidence" business men would have cheated them.

One of forty-eight national societies of women in this country, the Woman's Christian Temperance union, with a membership of 210,000, is the largest. Then follow the missionary, the peace, the suffrage organizations and national associations for the training of nurses. Altogether, numbering in all nearly 300,000 members. Twelve of these organizations have joined with the National council, an association which unites all the women societies of the nation into one grand organization.

Early in the year a national convention of women will be held in Chicago to consider the question of domestic labor. It will be one object of the convention to establish a national association for the training of servants and elevating them above their present status. To do this a national college is deemed necessary, and the selection of a site for this college will probably be the chief business of the convention.

There is a regiment of troops permanently stationed here, either the 1st or 2nd West India regiment (colored) the officers of which are white. There is also generally an English man-of-war in harbor and together with the various foreign men-of-war they form a fine sight. The city makes the place seem quite martial.

The cathedral (Church of England) is a very large structure built of stone and brick with a large clock in the tower which strikes every hour; the total cost of this cathedral is said to have been about eighty thousand pounds sterling. There are smaller churches of nearly all denominations.

There seem to be plenty of schools, beginning with Fourside Bay College, where young men who have passed through the other schools are taught the higher branches of a white principal and vice-principal beside native tutors. Also grammar school and high school for boys, the former Church of England, the latter Wesleyan and the Annie Walsh school for girls (Church of England) and the Educational Institution for girls. (Wesleyan) beside many public and private schools for both sexes.

Tropical fruits abound in this vicinity and are cheap. Among the better class of Europeans and natives the meat is not unlike that of the states with the exception that red pepper forms an omnipresent constituent of nearly every dish and is more constant even than the hash at sea. Why is it that so much red pepper is used in tropical or hot countries and not in cold ones? I remember one time in Louisiana I was peppered until I thought my mouth would burn up.

I still have a good deal to look forward to before I get to Africa. I have heard that the climate is very hot, and the average new comers frequently have malaria fever several times in the first year. After that, they say, you are allowed to leave out the malaria and just have plain fever. The prospect is a pleasant one.

"And there was a mask ball that night," you and they kept it pretty lively until morning. You see they weren't afraid of the early frost—knowing that all the druggists kept supplied with Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, the old reliable standby.

CHICAGO TO CALIFORNIA.

Without Change of Cars.

The Great Northern is now running a Pullman Vestibule car from Chicago to San Diego, via Los Angeles, without change. The train leaves Dearborn Station, Chicago, every night at 11 o'clock. This is a great attraction and an unequalled accommodation for passengers. Office, 212 Clark street, corner Adams.

WISE SAYINGS WELL SAID.

A small lie is nevertheless a lie. A great day is six pounds a year. Gradual gains are the only natural gains. Not every sort of industry tends to wealth. Broken faith cannot be tied up with red tape. It is as bad to clip conscience as to clip coin.

A mortal fear is both a mental and a bad fear. When trained in the way you should go ahead. Better to scrimp the body than to starve the soul.

Let your standard be perpendicular not slanting. Practice economy in pence as well as in pounds. Success in life depends largely upon perseverance.

Driving nails into the sky is rather a random business. Knaves and swindlers look for honest men for victims. Stick to the business in which you are prematurely employed. Better live green and die green than be prematurely rich.

Productions of the press—silent as snowflakes, but potent as thunder.

THERE IS NO ONE ARTICLE IN THE LINE of medicines that gives so large a return for the money as a good pore-strengthening plaster, such as Carter's Smart Weed Belladonna Backache Plasters.

A JANEVILLE BOY IN AFRICA.

His Struggles with Hash, Sea Sickness and a Tropical Climate.

Sierra Leone as Viewed by Wisconsin Eyes—A One Month's Voyage.

SIERRA LEONE Dec. 8.—Life in this land beyond the sea is well mixed with laziness. It can hardly be said to be a month from now when this letter reaches its destination readers of the Gazette will be yielded in furs and at the same time the writer will be taking a Turkish bath every day (and were) in the open air.

It may perhaps be of interest to Janesville people to hear of a few features of life in this land beyond the sea as viewed by a former Janesville boy. But first a word regarding the voyage. We left New York at noon, slipped silently out past Sandy Hook and the next day were out of a sight of vessels of any kind. My only diversion for the first few days was that fashionable madness known as sea sickness. Sympathetic reader: were you ever sea sick? A description of ones feelings on such an important occasion to those who have been there is unnecessary, and to those who have not it would be thrown away.

Sea sickness is a condition too awful to be described; it has no commercial value, but when once experienced can never be forgotten.

My indisposition ended, I found myself able to report three times a day, when the steward rang the bell for meals, with
